President Of China, Fearing Wrath Of Troops, Flees From Pekin-To Tien Tsin For Safety

Without Government,
Powers Hasten to Aid
Neutrals In Land.

TROOPS UNPAID

Pekin, June 13.—President Yuan Hung and from Peking to Tien Tsin this afternoon fearing an uprising by dissatisfied Chinese troops. Peking the capital of northern China is left without government as a result of the President's flight. It is feared that troops who have not been paid for months will start rioting and looting. The situation in Peking is tense with the possibility of armed revolts by the soldiers and foreign legation are taking steps to protect their nationals.

Might of the President and fear of an impending reign of terror by troops flowing report that foreign powers have notified their legations of a demand upon China for indemnity for the kidnapping of foreigners by Shantung bandits may be seen national.

The last of those prisoners who were taken into the hills after the Shanghai-Peking express had been wrecked, were freed Tuesday.

BOOSTERS' CLUB OF WOODLAND STARTS OFF WITH A BOOM

The business and professional men of Woodland, observing the advantages to be gained by any town having a live club of men in a position to do things, have decided to "do likewise." A few weeks ago a preliminary meeting was held at the Woodland Hotel at which dinner was had and plans discussed for the formation of a proposed Woodland Booster's Club. The idea took deep root and a committee on permanent organization was formed and a subsequent meeting last evening at the same place. Twenty three of Woodland's business and professional men were gathered at the table to hear the report of the committee and give ear to the suggestions made. The report of the committee showed that the organization was modeled very closely over the Commercial Club

Third Party To Avoid Dry Issue

LaFollette May be Wet, But Needs Prohibition West to Put Over His Program

By LAWRENCE MARTIN

(United Press Staff Correspondent Washington, June 13. (United Press)—"If LaFollette and his progressors start a third party, will it be wet or dry?" asks a correspondent, adding, "Some of us, who are disgusted at the quibbling and sidestepping on this question, would like to know if we can expect the progressives to meet it with courage."

The answer is that LaFollette will try to avoid the issue entirely. He will have plenty of others to talk about.

Wisconsin wets recently tried to find out how liberal LaFollette is in the question of beer. The result of their efforts to force a showdown was apparently a setback for the wets, but it was tempered in such a way that LaFollette today is in a position to stand on either side of the question without danger of being accused of having reversed himself.

On a bill to limit the right of search and seizure under the state enforcement law, LaFollette men in the Wisconsin senate voted "No." But the very same day the assembly adopted a resolution memorializing congress to amend the Volstead law to permit beer.

LaFollette's position therefore shapes up about like this: On enforcement of the 18th amendment and the Volstead law, he stands with the dries. On amendment of the Volstead law to permit use of beer, he might be willing to concede something to the wets who voted for him so numerously the last time he ran for the senate.

Needs of the Dry Votes

The reason LaFollette hopes to avoid the issue altogether lies in the fact that this year his horizon is much broader than Wisconsin. While wet votes might be needed to elect him there, dry votes will certainly be necessary if he is to make any showing in the presidential nomination fight in the Republican national convention, or later as a third party candidate.

LaFollette's great strength outside of his own state lies in the middle western, western and north-western states. A good many of these were dry even before national prohibition came. In many of them prohibition is a fact, not an affliction. The people are really dry and they vote dry. LaFollette must not offend the Iowa, Minnesota, Montana, North and South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas dries, if he expects to get anywhere. He knows it.

But he proceeds upon the theory that to those folk, prohibition is not any longer an issue. They are interested in railroads, taxes and similar subjects, and it is about those things he will talk to them.

If LaFollette is unsuccessful in his presidential aspirations, he will have plenty of time in the ensuing four or five years to get himself squared with Wisconsin wets, his friends say, and will be as strong as ever in the next senatorial campaign.

NEW OFFICERS ARE ELECTED TODAY BY O. U. A. M. COUNCIL

The sessions of the State Council O. U. A. M. at the Mechanics Hall on Nichols street yesterday were full of interest to the seventy-four or more delegates in attendance and much business of interest to the order was transacted.

The reports of the different state officers were given and referred to Committees for report and action this morning.

The report of the State Councilor showed the order to be in a very healthy condition in the State, both as to numbers and financially. More than $25,000 was paid out in relief by the different councils during the year just closed.

The nominations took place during the afternoon session. At this session Howard Holstein, of Harrisburg who has been State Secretary of the order for many years and one of the best known members of the State Council, caused genuine regret among the delegates when he announced that on account of his health and press of other business he would be unable to continue as State Secretary and refused to allow his name to be presented as a candidate for the office this time.

Perkaise was selected for the holding of the 1924 State Convention.

A most excellent address was made yesterday afternoon by A. T. Abernathy, National Council Doorkeeper, the authorized representative of the Supreme Council. Mr. Abernathy comes from Elkton, Maryland.

Kaiser and Bride Separated? No!

This picture spikes the rumor that Wilhelm, ex-Kaiser of Germany, and his bride have separated. It was taken as Wilhelm and Princess Hermine strolled through the streets of Doorn after her return from a six-weeks visit to her former home in Silesia. This is the second time they have been together on the streets of Doorn since their wedding last November. Note that Wilhelm walks on the inside, swinging his cane with his good arm.

Ignited From Heater.

HELPER ALSO DIES

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 13.—An explosion of gasoline while cleaning some quilts in an electric washer fatally burned Mary Huber, aged 51, wife of a wealthy coal operator, and Oliver Gibbons, aged 42, a chauffeur in the Huber home.

Mrs. Huber, wife of the president of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal Company, was superintending the cleaning in the basement of the Huber home when a pilot light in a hot water heater nearby ignited the gasoline fumes and the two were enveloped in flames and horribly burned before they could be rescued. The woman died before she could be removed to a hospital, while Gibbons died early today in the hospital.

Miss Margaret Sheehy was operated on for appendicitis at the Clearfield hospital.

Reedsville People Are At Work On Playground Program for the Summer

The men of Reedsville Community Service laid out a practical working plan to put their playground in order for summer use. On Friday night, June 22 all hands will be out to do the job. It is expected in the one evening to erect a sun and rain shelter, re-set the swings and make any other repairs and improvements that seem advisable to the committee. The women's C. S. committee which has worked in equal partnership with the men in all these community undertakings will do their bit by spreading supper for the workers when the shovel and hammer jobs are done. While this is done primarily for the children of the community, it is expected to make this a playground for all ages. There were several large neighborhood parties on the ground last summer and the volleyball court was busy most of the time but the program is expected to be even more heard this season. Evening supervision will be necessary at least part of the time and all the volunteer helpers are asked to be planning for the amount of time they will be able to give. If

Bond Issue Wins By Narrow Margin

The patrons of the Clearfield Public Schools do not display the interest in their schools, this most important town institution deserves. This was demonstrated at the special election held yesterday for the purpose of getting authorization of the votes of the School District to increase the debt to the amount of $45,000 for the purpose of providing for the installation of a new heating plant and building an addition to the Junior High School building to accommodate our rapidly increasing school population.

Those opposed to the project, many of whom have voted against every improvement offered or suggested during their residence here, with the assistance of a number of others who advanced personal reasons for opposing the proposition, had been busy in their opposition for some time and on account of the general apathy of school patrons came pretty near defeating the bond issue. This opposition was able to poll about the full strength of the opposition to progress along educational lines. However the fair name of the town, which has never yet voted down any proposition for the upbuilding of the schools, was saved by the narrow majority of 14 votes.

St. Francis Alumni Has Annual Banquet At The Dimeling Last Evening

Last night in the dining room of the Dimeling Hotel was held the annual Alumni Banquet of St. Francis High School. It was voted to be the most successful banquet yet held by the Alumni Association. Over a hundred members were present. With Miss Mary C. Mallow as toastmistress, a splendid program of after dinner speeches was delivered. Unlike most banquet programs, there was not one dull, dry, uninteresting number. Everything was done with a snap and finish which won the approval of all the hearers. The program was as follows:

300 WILL ATTEND THE C. H. S. ALUMNI BANQUET TONIGHT

Miss Marion Roseberry, Secretary of the Clearfield High School Alumni Association has received messages from over three hundred graduates of C. H. S. for the alumni banquet to be held tonight at the High School. The C. H. S. Alumni Association has grown to considerable proportions and in the future will be one of the mainstays and supports of the city's schools.

The entertainment this evening will be a movie written and produced by A. D. Bigler, assisted by Miss Augusta Connolly and Kenneth Thayer. This feature of the evening will be on promptly at eight o'clock in the auditorium. Immediately following will be the alumni banquet in the gymnasium. Following the banquet will join in the dance. President William Leitzinger who will act as toastmaster this evening is hard at work making arrangements for a perfect evening.

Mrs. Benson and daughter, Miss Esther Benson of Houtdale stopped in Clearfield yesterday.

JUDGES, CONGRESSMEN AND STATE SENATORS TO JOIN IN BONE GNAW AND WORSHIP THE SACRED RELIC

Clearfield Kennel of the Ancient, venerable transcendental and effervescent order of Yellow Dogs will stage a very important "bone gnaw" at the Hotel Dimeling at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening and many visiting curs from all the surrounding country have been invited and will be present.

Hostilities open with a banquet after which the dogs will repair to the ball room of the Dimeling and there proceed to initiate into the mysteries of yeller dogdom, a class of fifteen many, lousy pups.

The Blair county Kennel will send a brace or two of curs of long standing who have defended the sacred relic in all kinds of weather and under great distress of circumstances, which is composed of the following prominent citizens: Robert W. Smith Esq., of Hollidaysburg, who will put on the degree work at this meeting; Hon. J. Binks Kurtz, Congressman-elect; C. E. Bruner, Esq., Chief Cur; Mayor Rhodes of Altoona; C. E. Bell of the P. J. R. Co., at Osceola; John T. Tate, Juncosville; Senator Plymouth W. Snyder, of Hollidaysburg; D. Elmer Bell, Secretary of Altoona Mining Co.

There appears to be a great deal of curiosity about the Yellow Dogs here in Clearfield, one Second Ward woman calling this office to announce that her husband could not join nor did she want his name to appear in any list of curs to be published in the paper at any time. In order to save any other disciple of "Henry Peck" from such veto and for the purpose of information, we expose herewith enough of the secret work of the order to present herewith copy of the card furnished each member as he is "driven" into the kennel: "Laugh if you are wise without care. Let it be perpetual here and every where."

That motto you will find on the membership card inclosed, which will identify you as a member of our most honorable fraternity, must be shown to gain admission to all meetings where the Sacred Relic is exhibited.

Horseshoe Club Organized. Two Leagues Will Be Maintained Through The Summer

The Clearfield Horseshoe Club which was organized some two months ago has appointed a Council which has in turn drawn up the necessary working regulations so that the game may go right ahead now.

Officers appointed at the first meeting: Chairman, Boyd Smith; Vice Chairman, Fred Flint; Sec., M. Leighton; Treas., Frank Withrow. Other members of Council—J. D. Connolly, Frank L. Reed, Lloyd Wright, S. W. Warner, Frank Hall. Plan of organization, in order to provide for the large number of men who pitch for recreation as well as those who have become experts, two leagues are being formed. Singles only—open to any individual. Doubles league, composed of the best teams of several clubs, membership in each club to be open to any in their district. These clubs shall be recruited from the four wards under ward managers who can appoint any assistants they wish.

Membership cards will be supplied as soon as printed but work can be begun immediately and application can be sent in to these managers at once. In all probability these ward clubs will be subdivided according to other natural divisions—industries, streets, churches, organizations, etc. Dues for the year will be 50c. Informal playing can be with any shoe but tournament games will be played with the regulation shoe. Official rules may be obtained from the

A CHALLENGE
The Volley-Hall team of Fire Company No. 2 are getting into trim and issue a challenge to all comers, agreeing to trim any and every team that will meet them. They had a short business session yesterday at Hose House and are planning some ways to popularize this good sport and if possible develop enough interest to form a league that will extend beyond the four Fire Companies who participated last season.

Secretary or come with each pair of shoes bought. Word has somehow gotten abroad that Clearfield is a veritable hot bed of horseshoe pitching. The local organization has been making such a racket with the national officials trying to establish the state organization and if possible make Clearfield the centre of it, that horseshoe fans in general are looking for some big things to happen here. The local secretary has been appointed to place on the national organization and the official magazine, the "Horseshoe World" has quoted the town as being very much in the game. The card being more or less before the home, it is certainly up to the local people, whether pitchers or just lookers on to see that we deserve our place in the sun. The best way to start it is to get the ward teams lined up and listed as soon as possible. In a week there should be at least fifty teams in the field. There were forty last year at this time. By the middle of the season we should be meeting men from all over the state and some from other ways.

CHAPTER XXV
A Lesson in Disportment

GRAY was shocked at the change in Ma Erskine. She had faded her face, and she fell into a brief flutter of delight at seeing him; because, as sooth as their first greeting was over he led her to her lounge and insisted upon making her comfortable.
He had tricks with cushions and pillows that made her feel as if it were his obedient servants, and there-was a knack in arranging them that was some knack that a robin uses in building its nest. This he demonstrated quite conclusively.

It was not long before a great, mateau man like this take charge of last, "He does kindle feel like contrary, he brought them to a halt. "I have already, of course, monotonously, he stated the fact.

Gray played butler with a correctness and a poise deeply impressive to his round-eyed audience.

It was an uncomfortable experience for all except Gray himself, who, looking on, was amused. The last dish had been removed, and he had given instructions to serve the meal over again exactly as he had served it, the three negroes were glad to obey.

"What a meddlesome business," said the first, "but I don't know how to mind my own business, and the one luxury I enjoy most of all is regulating other people's affairs." He was still talking still, but his hearers upon the stage were not listening to him. When, then, he was summoned to the telephone by long-distance call, he returned in some agitation and announced: "Well, at last I have been able to get my own business of my own to attend."

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

While many of the sportsmen of this section have not yet made a study of it, a number who have done so are convinced that the new Pennsylvania game code, signed recently by Governor Pinchot, is one of the biggest progressive steps made by the game commission of this state in recent years. From a legal point of view, the repeal of fifty-seven different game acts and amendments dating back as far as 1760, is of incalculable worth. And the practical advantages to come from the new code are expected to be beneficial to every sportsman.

One code now contains all the law on game hunting and trapping.

Of the fifty changes from the previous laws, the provisions allowing Commission to practically regulate the hunting season to suit the needs of the section and of the game, the change in the deer law, and the section prohibiting the division of the penalties secured from conviction of the violators between non-salaried prosecutors and the salaried prosecutors and the State, are among the most important changes involved.

Under the new code the Commission has been granted power to close counties for a term of years for specified animals or birds or may regulate the open season for a term of years. Power is also given to extend the season for squirrel, rabbit and woodcock, where unusual conditions warrant such action on receiving a petition signed by 200 residents of the section affected, fifty per cent, of whom were regularly licensed for the preceding hunting season.

The deer law now requires a buck to have two or more points or a spike at least six inches long to be legally killed. The object of the change is to compel the hunter to actually see the head of the animal before shooting and thus prevent the loss of human life.

Another and most important feature in the deer law is a provision allowing three days for killing of does in communities where 200 licensed hunters sign a petition asking for such allowance. The price of license fees also has been raised.

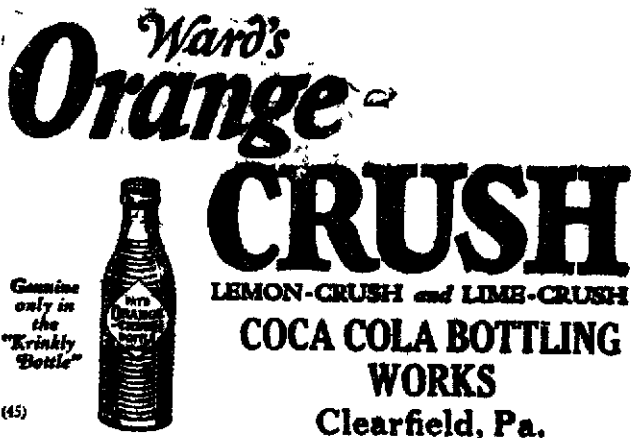

Another change prohibits the use of steel jacketed bullets in the hunting field, which is expected to be another safety factor.

The division of fines no longer exists as was allowed under most of the old game laws. Practically all of the old laws allowed the prosecutor to receive half the fine where he was not a salaried officer of the State. Under the new law the entire fund must be deposited with the Game Fund.

There ought to be a great time at Bedford Springs when the bakers of the state meet there in convention. They know how to raise the dough.

Those who see nothing but foolishness in such things as "one gnaw," a festivity and ceremonial having much in common with a lot of other functions in present day life, would well to reflect that such actions are better than gathering around the bone of contention.

What has Community Service done for you? Tell us what we have done for Community Service and we will tell you what you have gotten out of it. This organization cannot do anything for anybody who does not enter into the work of it. Any people are getting something out of it. Reedsville is an example. Reedsville is Community Service. That is why.

Gasoline as a cleaning element is responsible for the death of a great many people every year. It is hard for the average person to understand that gasoline is not a liquid but a gas in liquid form and that the fumes and vapors coming from it permeate the atmosphere for several feet around it. Many people think that heat must come in contact with the liquid to explode it. People who find this is not the case usually do not live to tell the story to others.

It is a good omen when prosperous times are accompanied by such activity in church benevolences and church building as is the case in this neighborhood. There is always a danger that prosperity will turn the heads of a people from rendering unto God the things that are God's. The churches of this community were never in more prosperous shape. There is plenty of room for improvement yet. What have you done to show to the Creator your appreciation of life in a period of plenty, a place of contentment?

DISCIPLINE AND DEMOCRACY

This is the age of democracy, and it is the ideal of advanced nations to make self government universal and protect the humblest individual's chance for progress and self expression. Many people feel that only through "industrial democracy" shall the mass of the people obtain a fair chance in life. Yet some folks claim that democracy is being carried so far that it destroys the discipline that is essential to achievement. They point to Russia, where the moderate socialistic government under Kerensky began to go to pieces, when the famous General Order No. 1 was issued, which relieved the soldier from the obligation of saluting his superior officer. That was only the start, it is claimed, of a movement that destroyed authority and led to anarchy.

In this country many employers of labor say that the workmen feel too independent, and believe they are so well protected by their union organizations that they need not manifest diligence and devotion. This it is claimed destroys the old time self and pride of craftsmanship.

There are two dangers to be avoided in organizing the work of the community. Those who direct the forces of industry may carry their discipline so far as to crush down the individual and deny hard working people a fair chance in life. And on the other hand, the revolt against this discipline may go so far that the working forces may waste and nullify the working power of the community.

The employer of labor must have very close to his heart the welfare of those who work for him. Those whom he directs must recognize that discipline is a factor in any achievement. If an army did not obey its commander, it would soon go to pieces. If a gang of workmen do not obey directors and throw some spirit and enthusiasm into their work, they are already a defeated army in the battle of daily achievement.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

COMMERCIAL BANKING SERVICE

The most important function of the Commercial Bank is to lend money as its customers require it to develop or enlarge their business, or to maintain their credit by discounting bills.

Knowledge of the needs of business men comes from long service to the business community.

Ability to lend needed funds requires large invested capital and efficient management of the bank's funds.

The County National has capital and surplus of over $1,300,000. Its officers and directors are business men of long and wide experience.

For more than a quarter of a century it has not refused to make a loan on account of lack of available funds.

Its officers invite conferences with business men desiring a connection with an ably managed commercial bank.

AMERICAN EGGS INVADING WORLD MARKETS

American eggs now shipped to every continent. Exports for fiscal year 1923 will exceed year preceding war by about 21,000,000 dozen.

The cackle of the American hen reverberates throughout the entire world and with constantly increasing intensity. The total number of eggs sent out of continental United States in the fiscal year which ends with June, 1923, will approximate a half billion with a value of approximately $12,000,000, and will show a larger total than in any preceding year with the possible exception of one of the war years, when demands from Europe were exceptionally heavy and especially for the class of foods convenient for use in camps and on the battlefields. The present high record of exports, however, is in response to normal calls from all parts of the world.

Figures compiled for the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York indicate that the growth in the exportation of this factor of our food supply has been exceptionally rapid in recent years. In the year preceding the war, the total exports of eggs were 174 million dozen with a value of $3,308,000, while that of the fiscal year 1923 will be approximately 39,000,000 dozen, and if we include those sent to our own colonies but not included as "exports" the number will exceed 40 million dozen, or 480 million eggs passing out of continental United States in the natural form. Add to this $100,000 worth going under the classification "eggs and yolks frozen, dried or canned" and it is quite apparent that the total distribution from our ports in the year which ends with June, 1923, will be fully a half billion in number with a value of fully $12,000,000. The value of the eggs sent out of the United States in the last decade, adds the Trade Record, is nearly $100,000,000 as against about $20,000,000 in the decade preceding the war.

Where do they go? To every continent and all of the islands and colonies of the world. While the figures of distribution by countries are not yet available for the current fiscal year, those for 1919, the former high record year, show eggs sent in the natural form, to 26 countries, while those in the "dried, frozen or canned" state went in 1920 to no less than 45 countries, all of the grand divisions of the world. England's which has for many years been a large importer of this class of foodstuff, is the largest of the European purchasers, and the number sent to that country in the 9 months ending with March, 1923, is 4,697,000 dozen, valued at $1,528,000, or an average export price to Great Britain of 32.5c per dozen, while the average export price of those going to the entire world in the same period was 27.6c per dozen. Canada, Cuba and Mexico are even larger importers of eggs from the United States than is Great Britain, the total number sent from the United States to Mexico in the 9 months ending with March, 1923, having been 5,812,000 dozen, to Canada 8,372,000, and to Cuba 8,447,000, as against 4,697,000 dozen sent to the United Kingdom in the same period. It is in the class being exported in the "dried, frozen and canned" state that the widest distribution and the most rapid growth occurs. They went in 1920 to 16 European countries, all the colonies and islands of the Caribbean area, 9 South American countries, a dozen countries, colonies and islands in Asia and Oceania, and a limited number in Africa.

This new development in the export of what was a few years ago considered a "negligible factor" in our export trade illustrates, says the Trade Record, the constant increase in the variety and value of food materials which the United States is placing upon the world's markets and the aid which these minor industries of the country are rendering in supplying the "wherewithal" required for the purchase of the tropical foods and manufacturing materials which we must always bring from other parts of the world.

The art of distributing eggs in condition in which they can make long voyages in all climates developed rapidly during the war and especially among the Orientals. The value of eggs officially described as "dried, frozen, etc." entering the United States advanced from $37,000 in the year preceding the war to over $8,000,000 in 1921 and was almost exclusively of Oriental production, a very large proportion coming from China with limited quantities from Japan, Hongkong, Australia and New Zealand.

Milk Supply Of DuBois Made Much Better By Cow Testing For T. B.

DuBois, June 12.—Dairymen of this section have shown unusual interest and activity recently in the highly important matter of having their herds tested for tuberculosis, and as a result the milk supply of the city is being raised to a higher standard of purity than it has perhaps ever been before.

Within the past few weeks, three herds that have been furnishing milk directly to DuBois consumers have been tested with the result that 24 tubercular reactors were removed from their place among the producers of milk for the city.

The herd on the Minns farm was the hardest hit, all seven cows showing reaction and being ordered destroyed. The Hyatt & Parry herd, regarded as one of the best in this section, showed fifty per cent tubercular infested and seventeen of the thirty-four cows in that herd were destroyed when they reacted to the tests. Samuel Larson, of No. 1 Shaft had 15 in his herd and all of them proved to be free of tuberculosis.

More To Be Tested.

The tuberculin tests have not been under way long in this section, the DuBois agricultural area being slow in taking up this phase of the dairy improvement work. However, with the stamping of the Lowe and Wachob herds as tubercular free, and plans for testing numerous other herds, it is assured that within a short time practically all of the milk used in this city will be freed of tuberculosis.

The Hoyt and Bucksby herds in the Sabula section and the Henderson Van Tassel herds are scheduled to be tested in the near future and most of the other larger milk producers of this section are falling into line.

MAY BIGGEST MONTH IN NASH HISTORY

May was the biggest month in the history of The Nash Motor Company. Shipments for the month exceeded those of April, the previous record month, by 562 cars and eclipsed the record of May 1922, by 1,073 cars. In other words Nash Motors shipped in May of this year 6,200 passenger cars as against 5,125 cars in the same month last year.

"While we actually shipped 6,203 cars in May," said E. R. McCarty, general sales manager of The Nash Motor Company, "We had on our books orders for more than 8,000 cars for May delivery. There are entirely no let-up in sight for June. Nash dealers throughout the country have practically no cars in stock and most of them are arranging delivery."

"Because of the backward weather of the spring months June is likely to be even a heavier selling month than usual, many buyers, because of the recent uncomfortable weather, having postponed their purchase of a new car. Practically ever since the new Nash line of cars was shown to the public at the various automobile shows, the Nash factory has been in an oversold condition with the result that since March 1 we have never been able to fill all of the orders received by the factory. Production, of course, has been increased, but on a very careful basis, safeguarding the quality of Nash cars."

The conscience cannot be too sensitive and tender; but scrupulousness arises from bodily or mental infirmity, and discovers itself in a multitude of ridiculous, superstitious, and painful feelings.—Cecil rounded out life in comparison to which the happy strings, the organ he, the bugler's silvery notes are but discord in the weary hearts of this little world.

Reflecting upon your initiation into Dogdom, when the great idea of Friendship, Frivolity and Fun was born into your life, you learned that honorable conduct is a virtue, that Friendship may be more than a name; that civilities may be shown of weakness and that rippling Fun may flow like a river.

Our aspirations go out for more MAN rather than more men; Love and good will; the higher attributes of the dog; his patience and tolerance in adversity and his faithfulness and love for his master. With this there must follow pure love of home and country and a desire to serve rather than to be served remembering always— "The strength of the pack is in the Dog."

And the strength of the Dog is in the pack."

The responses received from the invitations to attend sent out indicate that "dogs" to the number of 150 will be present when the sacred relic is placed on display.

I had no appetite and the pains in my limbs were severe. Doan's Kidney Pills being highly recommended to me I began their use and I noticed a change in my condition before taking half a box. "JAZZ-SAX" IS NEWEST ONE

Chicago, June 8.—Optimists who credit the end of jazz music in the near future can hold those cheeks. They won't be yet to come.

Making jazz music appears to be the latest method of musical instruction in various and exhibits at the annual musical trades convention here, and that they are meeting with success.

There has been no radical change in music instruments during the past year except in those which produce the "jazz-sax" sound.

For instance, the "vocal jazz" which probably will cause more trouble than any other instrument now invented except, perhaps, the "jazz-sax."

The "jazz-sax" looks just like a saxophone but it isn't a noise like a saxophone. Anyone can play the thing, because the twisty, twirly part is just put on to look like a saxophone and the instrument itself is simply a developed type of the "slide-sax" through which the player blows.

Any Child Can Play It

The "jazz-sax" is claimed to enable the most inexperienced child to imitate in all the morbid delights of playing a saxophone like a trained Alabama Negro without ear of detection.

That instrument may be expected to pave the way for jazz into homes now musicless, but the attempt to jam up the jazz bands to further satisfy the nervous of jazz-maniacs has produced various other "din-raising" devices.

The "slide-sax" is one of these. It is the ultimate child of a papa trombone and a mama saxophone. It makes noises not only, but it goes with a most startling, unexpected, and brilliant of those two noises and the player may push the slide up and down with all the gas and reckless abandon of the hardened trombonist without leaving out any of the most vital tricks of the chronic saxophone.

New Men in Clear Lighter

A novel-looking cigar lighter, resembling a telephone, in appearance, what would be the receiver of the telephone is in this case the lighter, which is connected with a flexible tubing to the gas service. When the "receiver" is taken from the hook, the gas is automatically turned on and lighted by an electric spark from a battery. When the user "hangs up," the light is extinguished.

Young Love's Ending

I had taken my girl to a box social held in a country school. I told her to describe her box and I would buy it. I bought the box she had described, and on opening it I found it belonged to a poor old maid. I was real angry, especially so when I saw that a nice young fellow had bought my girl's box. Our friendship ended there.

Superstition Concerning Moan

Why is it considered unlucky to see the new moon through glass? Moon-gazing is one of the oldest forms of divination, and the new moon as the symbol of living life was so sacred that while things would assemble with it for its appearance. Anyone who saw it through glass must have been in the wrong, and therefore absent from the sacred assembly of wisdom.

Woman Seeks Advice

Forecasting Weather

When the mercury falls suddenly in hot weather, look out for thunder or high winds. In frosty weather a thaw is foretold. When the weather is already wet and the mercury continues to descend, more rain can be expected. During winter, if the movement of the mercury is unsettled, with sudden rises and falls, unsettled weather conditions are likely to prevail.

Woodcuts

The art of wood engraving is very old. When it was rare to find a prince who could write, little woodcuts for attesting documents were in use in Europe. But before that the Chinese had invented the art. In modern times the woodcut has been submerged beneath other methods of reproducing drawings and photographs, but the art is now being kept delightfully alive by the Society of Wood Engravers of London.

Started Savings Bank

The plan of a humble Presbyterian minister for the good of his people in a remote parish led to the post office savings bank in Great Britain with 1,800 million dollar deposits by poor people. It was Doctor Duncan of Ruthwell, whose brilliant gifts might have fitted him for a far wider sphere, who started his savings bank in a little white-washed cottage. It was successful; and soon copied all over Scotland.

SCOUT NOTES

All captains are urged to hand in as soon as possible a full report of activities and attendance for the last two months. Also the number at present enrolled in good standing so that it will be possible to publish the actual figures. There are many who wish to know exactly how the movement stands at the end of this first Community Service year.

It is reported with much relief that two new captains have been obtained. While others are still in demand, this is a cheering note.

Mrs. W. O. Hoover, who was a surgical patient in the Clearfield hospital, is home and getting along nicely.

John H. Gilbert, one of the best known New York Central engineers, working out of Clearfield hospital, passed away at the Clearfield hospital about 6 o'clock last evening, after lingering illness, in the 51st year of his age. The deceased had been a sufferer from diabetes for a number of years and several years ago had one of his legs amputated in an attempt to stay the ravages of the disease. Following that operation his health improved until a couple of months ago when he began to fail rapidly and again became a patient at the hospital where he had since been confined.

John H. Gilbert was born in Bellefonte April 14, 1873. When a young man he entered the service of the New York Central and had been an engineer on that road for many years. He first located in Clearfield about 1895 and had since resided here. He was a fine man and enjoyed the unbounded respect and esteem of all with the pleasure of his acquaintance. He was a member of the B. of L. E., the Odd Fellows and Fraternal Order of Eagles.

The remains were prepared for burial by Undertaker F. B. Leavy and removed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed T. Bird on North Second street. They will be taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. S. H. Shearer at Castanea, Thursday morning and the funeral will be held from the Shearer home at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Interment will be made in Highland cemetery at Lock Haven. The funeral will be in charge of the B. of L. E.

The deceased was unmarried and is survived by his sister, mentioned and two brothers, one living in Lock Haven and one at Reading.

Why Thirteen is Unlucky

Thirteen is supposed to be the unluckiest of numbers. In ancient times it was quite the reverse! Men in those days always counted in dozens, and it was customary to add one "for luck." The baker's dozen is a modern survival. The present belief that thirteen has a baleful influence comes from the Last Supper, when Judas Iscariot was the thirteenth at table and the first to rise from the meal.

GREAT MEETING AT GOSHEN CHURCH AS BUILDING BEGINS

Sunday last was a memorable day for the church people of Goshen. At an enthusiastic meeting it had been unanimously decided to replace the old house of worship with a new and modern edifice. All week, beginning Sunday, June 3rd, revival meetings had been held, attended by large crowds. The well known and brilliant evangelist, Rev. O. B. Poulson of Alona, who began his ministry on this charge about fifteen years ago and who had endeared himself to the people of this section, addressed the appreciative audiences which gathered at the old church building to hear him from Sunday morning 'til Thursday night. On Friday night the evangelist, Miss Minnie Bassett, and her accomplished organist, Miss Thomas both of Fishertown, were present. A large audience enjoyed their excellent singing and the ringing message by Rev. Miss Bassett.

But a rare pleasure was accorded the great throng that crowded the old place of worship on Saturday night. It had been announced that the Rev. Gleason P. Sarvis, the old veteran of the Central Pennsylvania Conference, who 89 years since had ministered to the people of Goshen in the things of God, and who has won more souls for Christ than any other minister in the Conference, would preach.

After the introduction—for another generation had come and grown up and a second one succeeded, since the aged minister had preached here—the venerable saint arose and stood in the pulpit where he preached so long ago. The attention of the house was riveted upon him with mingled feelings of love and reverence. His subject was "Prayer—that forgotten art"—and as the white-haired minister dwelt with feeling eloquence on the great need and the power of prayer, the audience was profoundly moved. It was a solemn and impressive message from one whose eyes shall soon behold Him, whose face is infinitely brighter than a thousand suns.

10:00 A. M. Sunday was the hour set for Children's Day exercises. People came in great numbers, some for considerable distances, and the seating capacity of the old church was overtaxed by the 350 or more present. The committee in charge of training the children had worked long and hard, and the exercises following called forth many words of appreciation.

At the climax of the week came Saturday afternoon, the time set for subscribing the funds for the new edifice. A great fleet of autos brought throngs from near and far. Chairs and benches were brought from the nearby Grange and Alliance Halls until all available space was taken up and still many were standing. After a short address by Rev. Sarvis the people were given the long looked for opportunity of subscribing to the building fund. This part of the service was in charge of Evangelist Poulson, and the efficient and tactful manner in which he handled it soon brought it to a triumphant conclusion.

The giving was enthusiastic, the initial impulse being given by the Shaw Bros. of Clearfield, who quickly subscribed the first unit asked for.

Shortly $2,986.00 had been subscribed, together with two memorial windows, team work estimated to be sufficient for the entire project, and labor enough to enable an immediate beginning.

Monday morning Alex Hainsey, boss carpenter, with a crew of workers made up of pastor, official members and laymen and women, began the work of removing carpet, seats, etc., and by 6:00 p. m. the old meeting house was only a shell. It is expected that by Saturday night all will be in readiness for beginning the excavations for the new structure.

Thanks are especially due to Rev. O. B. Poulson for his loving and efficient labors in behalf of the project. It was a great week for Goshen, a time that will live in memory, but greater things are ahead.

Mrs. Frank Connelly and son Billy of Cherry street, leave this evening for Eliza, Ohio, where they will visit with her daughter, Mrs. James Elmer for some time, after which they expect to go on to Detroit, where they will visit Mrs. W. A. Flanagan, also a daughter.

A Fred Van Caten and wife, former residents of Clearfield, are guests of Clearfield friends at present. Mr. Van Caten was formerly a member of C. H. S. faculty and is remembered for his wonderful ability in music. Mrs. Van Caten was also a pianist, of both and Clearfield was indeed sorry to lose these good people when they decided to return to Philadelphia to engage in business.

Miss Miriam Underwood, who has completed a successful term of school at Pittsburgh has returned to her home on 6th street.

Miss Sarah Brodbeck and Rae Eckley, who were attending a house party at State College, have returned home.

and his address proved that there was nothing lost in having him come a long distance. His plain statement of the aims, purposes and program of the O. U. A. M. was a revelation to his hearers and prolonged applause broke forth at the conclusion of his remarks.

At the opening of the sessions this morning an impressive memorial service was held to commemorate the lives of those of the Council who have departed this life during the last year. Following this was heard two reports of committees which brought out a lively discussion of ways and means of bettering the order. Just before noon the election for state officers was held with the following result:

State Councilor, J. B. DeHaven, of Chester, Pa.; State Vice Councilor Harry Ellis, Kyfertown, Pa.; Jr. Ex-State Councilor, Isaac T. Heisey, Dillsburg, Pa. Treasurer, Chas. H. Kurtz, Philadelphia; Secretary, George B. Sill, Chester, Pa.; Chaplain, A. P. Barnum, Allentown; Inducor, Ralph Ball, Beaver Falls, Pa.; Examiners, H. L. Shull, Lansdale, Pa.; Inside Protector, J. W. plan which has worked so successfully in Clearfield, although necessarily the directorate is smaller and the sphere of work will be somewhat different. These men believe that Woodland with its never failing supply of work for everybody, has a real future for the good citizen and the purpose is to invite people to make their home there, and to this end, it is the purpose of the club members to put a few things in better shape in order that good citizens may be attracted to the town. The report of the committee, which was unanimously adopted, called upon the following men to serve during the ensuing six months: S. T. McClure, President; J. V. Snapp, Vice Pres.; V. G. Henderson, Secretary; G. B. Leidel, Ass'y Sec'y; A. E. Woolridge.

At the conclusion of the business session, G. A. Stewart, President of the Clearfield Rotary Club, was called upon to give an address covering methods of organization, aims of the club and suggestions for bringing about the results desired in Woodland. Following Mr. Stewart's talk to his old neighbors and friends, a general round table discussion was had at which many good thoughts were brought out. The next meeting of the club will be held the fourth Monday of this month.

Thousands Homeless In Oklahoma As Result Of Arkansas River Floods

Tulsa, Okla., June 13.—Thousands were made homeless here today by Arkansas River Flood waters which raged unchecked throughout this section of Oklahoma.

The entire river bottom between here and Sand Springs, a distance of seven miles was inundated. Three thousand refugees, whose homes were flooded, were being cared for by relief agents.

The municipal works here were forced to shut down owing to flood waters and there was danger of disease. In Jenks, south of here, water covered three-fourths of the town. Residents were said to be fleeing in boats.

WAR VETERAN HURLS SELF FROM SEVENTH FLOOR OF BUILDING

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 13.—Arthur Swenson, aged 24, world war veteran today hurled himself to death from the roof of the seventh story of the Joseph Horne department store building in full view of crowds of early shoppers, several of whom collapsed. Swenson, who was employed in the store, is said to have never fully recovered from gassing in France.

PROTECTED HOME CIRCLE BANQUETS

Representatives of the Protected Home Circle from Clearfield, Curwensville, DuBois and other towns in this section banqueted at the Hotel Jordan last evening.

Platanuses are of the family of the olive tree. The leaves are green above and silvery beneath. The flowers are small and white. The fruit is a small, round, greenish-yellow berry. The tree is native to the Mediterranean region and is cultivated in many parts of the world. It is a very hardy tree and can grow in a variety of soils. It is a very useful tree for many purposes. The leaves are used for tea and the fruit is used for food. The wood is used for many purposes. The tree is a very beautiful tree and is a very useful tree.

Few Real Students of Nature. Books are of pathetically little use to tell the story of nature. Few people recognize more than a dozen roadside flowers, the commonest trees and shrubs, a few kinds of birds and insects. To be able to distinguish the call notes of birds seems to most persons a miraculous gift. The few who know enough of nature to be guided for a few hours' walk have knowledge that many others deeply long for, but that they would pay handsomely to get.—Youth's companion.

Does Not Have No Other Name. Is it not strange that the emblem flower of England should have a Latin name? For there is no other name for a rose than the Latin word rosa, which the Romans brought us. What did the countryfolk of Kent or Sussex call it before the Romans came? "Eglantine" another old name for it is French derived from a Latin word which takes you back eventually to a Greek word. Was there never another name to set beside such English names as cowslip, buttercup, daisy?

Rivers in the Ocean. The oceans have their rivers just like the land. The best known of these is the Gulf stream, but the greatest is the "Euro-Sivo" or Black stream which runs from Europe due east toward the American coast and is essentially modified by the climate that in summer humming birds are found in southern Alaska.

Senator Snyder Wants to Know Facts About Story Of Senate Drinking Bout

Harrisburg, Pa., June 13.—Revealing a report that Senator Moran was drugged and kidnapped on the eve of the taxation vote last week, a resolution was introduced in the Senate today calling for an investigation of alleged drinking bouts in the State Capitol.

The resolution, introduced by Senator Snyder, author of the state enforcement law, declared that many charges of malfeasance in office by state officials, both elective and appointive have been made and no developments have been forthcoming.

RECUPERATING ON THE MOUNTAINS

Dr. G. E. Mauk, of Woodland, who spent the past three weeks in Atlantic City, came home Monday very much improved in health. The Doctor decided to make a good job of his restoration to health by spending the remainder of this week at his camp on the mountains between the Caledonia and Gifford Run. He will resume his practice at Woodland and Clearfield next week.

Appropriations And Revenues Hold Stage In Senate This Week

Harrisburg, June 13.—The Legislature went into the last 24 hours of the 1923 session today with the revenue and appropriations problem still unsolved. The Senate, hemmed in on one side by the insistence of Governor Pinchot that the new revenue provided be adequate and on the other by the same aversion in the House to any important changes in the tax program, has decided upon attempting today to put its finishing touches on the revenue question.

The predominant sentiment in the Senate assumed was exemption of the corporation profits tax, authorizing coal companies, insurance corporations and corporate lessors exemptions, recommended by the finance committee. There was also a movement under way further to rearrange the tax program by substituting something for the Whittier gasoline bill, passed by the House.

Designer's Costly Joke. The dies for one of the earlier issues of Kruger sovereigns was engraved in Europe, and the designer engraved his own initials, "O. S." directly underneath the bust of Kruger. New York, June 13.—Edward M. Fuller and William F. McGee, late heads of the brokerage house of E. M. Fuller & Company, today pleaded guilty on the charge of conducting a bucket shop. They were remanded to jail until Friday when they will be sentenced.

Fuller had been tried three times and in each case the jury disagreed. Preparations were being made for the fourth trial when he decided to plead guilty.

Harding Thinks U.S. May Amend Volstead Law To End Foreign Objections

Washington, D. C. June 13.—President Harding will suggest that Congress change the Volstead Law to end difficulties growing out of the Supreme Court's decision that foreign ships must not bring even sea stores of liquor into American waters, it was indicated today by an administrative spokesman at the White House.

At present Mr. Harding feels the Government has no choice in the matter but to uphold the Supreme Court's decision but feels, however, that Congress had no intention of making the law so drastic as the Supreme Court holds it to be.

CONSIDERATE MOTHER-IN-LAW GETS PENN STATE DEGREE

In the belief that mothers-in-law should find something more useful to do than become a worry to their children, Mrs. Sarah Shoemaker Farley, 57, of Swarthmore, Pa., several years ago began studying agriculture at the Pennsylvania State College, where a son was then a student, and this week received the degree of Bachelor of Science in the college course in botany. Left a widow some years ago, and with limited means, Mrs. Farley became attached to college life while visiting her son at State College in 1916, and decided to take up studies leading to independence and a profession.

"Mother" Farley, as she is known to every Penn State student, is the mother of three sons, two of them graduates of Penn State, the other a graduate of an Illinois medical college, and a daughter who attended Swarthmore College. All are married and their twelve children know the oldest woman ever to be graduated from Penn State as "grandmother." She expects to continue her studies in post-graduate and scientific investigation work at another institution in the fall.

Bedroom Wall Protection

While visiting a friend I discovered her way of protecting her beds from scratching the walls when moving them. Tacked to the headboard at the head of each bed was a strip of picture molding a trifle longer than the width of the bed and painted to correspond to the woodwork. The casters rolled against the molding, and there was no danger of injury to the wallpaper. — Washington Post.

A VICTORY FOR AMERICAN MOTORISTS

The Crude Rubber Monopoly weakened when it came into contact with aroused public sentiment. The press of the country today reflects the determination of the American motorist that tire prices shall stay at a reasonable level—and that America must produce its own rubber.

Firestone

CUTS TIRE PRICES

EFFECTIVE JUNE 11

We announce a 10% reduction in tire and tube effective June 11th. The lowered cost of crude rubber and the special Firestone manufacturing and distribution advantages make this possible.

Firestone factories are organized on a basis of large volume and effective production. Costs are down but quality is at its peak. Stockholder workmen are daily building many thousands of Gum-Dipped Cords—the best tire Firestone ever produced and, we believe, the leader on the market today.

Firestone Cords took the first four places and eight of the ten money positions in the Indianapolis Sweepstakes, May 30th, without a single tire failure.

Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords have set new standards in mileage, traction, comfort and safety. Car owners have expressed their approval of the extra value in Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords by increasing their purchases 104% in the past six months.

We have replaced many expensive branches with warehouses. We now have 108 distributing points which are delivering Firestone tires to the consumer at the lowest cost in our history.

Follow the tide of economical tire buying—equip with Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords—and learn what Most Miles per Dollar means to you today.

BOOSTERS' CLUB OF WOODLAND STARTS OFF WITH A BOOM

The business and professional men of Woodland, observing the advantages to be gained by any town having a live club of men in a position to do things, have decided to "do likewise." A few weeks ago a preliminary meeting was held at the Woodland Hotel at which dinner was had and plans discussed for the formation of a proposed Woodland Booster's Club. The idea took deep root and a committee on permanent organization was formed and a subsequent meeting last evening at the same place. Twenty three of Woodland's business and professional men were gathered at the table to hear the report of the committee and give ear to the suggestions made. The report of the committee showed that the organization was modeled very closely over the Commercial Club

(United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, June 13. (United Press)—

"If LaFollette and his progressives start a third party, will it be wet or dry?" asks a correspondent, adding, "Some of us, who are disgusted at the quibbling and sidestepping on this question, would like to know if we can expect the progressives to meet it with courage."

The answer is that LaFollette will try to avoid the issue entirely. He will have plenty of others to talk about.

Wisconsin wets recently tried to find out how liberal LaFollette is in the question of beer. The result of their efforts to force a showdown was apparently a setback for the wets, but it was tempered in such a way that LaFollette today is in a position to stand on either side of the question without danger of being accused of having reversed himself.

On a bill to limit the right of search and seizure under the state enforcement law, LaFollette men in the Wisconsin senate voted "No." But the very same day the assembly adopted a resolution memorializing congress to amend the Volstead law to permit beer.

LaFollette's position therefore shapes up about like this: On enforcement of the 18th amendment and the Volstead law, he stands with the dries. On amendment of the Volstead law to permit use of beer, he might be willing to concede something to the wets who voted for him so numerously the last time he ran for the senate.

Needs of the Dry Votes

The reason LaFollette hopes to avoid the issue altogether lies in the fact that this year his horizon is much broader than Wisconsin. While wet votes might be needed to elect him there, dry votes will certainly be necessary if he is to make any showing in the presidential nomination fight in the Republican national convention, or later as a third party candidate.

LaFollette's great strength outside of his own state lies in the middle western, western and north-western states. A good many of these were dry even before national prohibition came. In many of them prohibition is a fact, not an affliction. The people are really dry and they vote dry. LaFollette must not offend the Iowa, Minnesota, Montana, North and South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas dries, if he expects to get anywhere. He knows it.

But he proceeds upon the theory that to those folk, prohibition is not any longer an issue. They are interested in railroads, taxes and similar subjects, and it is about those things he will talk to them.

If LaFollette is unsuccessful in his presidential aspirations, he will have plenty of time in the ensuing four or five years to get himself squared with Wisconsin wets, his friends say, and will be as strong as ever in the next senatorial campaign.

NEW OFFICERS ARE ELECTED TODAY BY O. U. A. M. COUNCIL

The sessions of the State Council O. U. A. M. at the Mechanics Hall on Nichols street yesterday were full of interest to the seventy-four or more delegates in attendance and much business of interest to the order was transacted.

The reports of the different state officers were given and referred to Committees for report and action this morning.

The report of the State Councilor showed the order to be in a very healthy condition in the State, both as to numbers and financially. More than $25,000 was paid out in relief by the different councils during the year just closed.

The nominations took place during the afternoon session. At this session Howard Holstein, of Harrisburg who has been State Secretary of the order for many years and one of the best known members of the State Council, caused genuine regret among the delegates when he announced that on account of his health and press of other business he would be unable to continue as State Secretary and refused to allow his name to be presented as a candidate for the office this time.

Perkaise was selected for the holding of the 1924 State Convention.

A most excellent address was made yesterday afternoon by A. T. Abernathy, National Council Doorkeeper, the authorized representative of the Supreme Council. Mr. Abernathy comes from Elkton, Maryland.

Kaiser and Bride Separated? No!

This picture spikes the rumor that Wilhelm, ex-Kaiser of Germany, and his bride have separated. It was taken as Wilhelm and Princess Hermine strolled through the streets of Doorn after her return from a six-weeks visit to her former home in Silesia. This is the second time they have been together on the streets of Doorn since their wedding last November. Note that Wilhelm walks on the inside, swinging his cane with his good arm.

HELPER ALSO DIES

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 13.—An explosion of gasoline while cleaning some quilts in an electric washer fatally burned Mary Huber, aged 51, wife of a wealthy coal operator, and Oliver Gibbons, aged 42, a chauffeur in the Huber home.

Mrs. Huber, wife of the president of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal Company, was superintending the cleaning in the basement of the Huber home when a pilot light in a hot water heater nearby ignited the gasoline fumes and the two were enveloped in flames and horribly burned before they could be rescued. The woman died before she could be removed to a hospital, while Gibbons died early today in the hospital.

Miss Margaret Sheeche was operated on for appendicitis at the Clearfield hospital.

Reedsville People Are At Work On Playground Program for the Summer

The men of Reedsville Community Service laid out a practical working plan to put their playground in order for summer use. On Friday night, June 22 all hands will be out to do the job. It is expected in the one evening to erect a sun and rain shelter, re-set the swings and make any other repairs and improvements that seem advisable to the committee. The women's C. S. committee which has worked in equal partnership with the men in all these community undertakings will do their bit by spreading supper for the workers when the shovel and hammer jobs are done. While this is done primarily for the children of the community, it is expected to make this a playground for all ages. There were several large neighborhood parties on the ground last summer and the volleyball court was busy most of the time but the program is expected to be even more heard this season. Evening supervision will be necessary at least part of the time and all the volunteer helpers are asked to be planning for the amount of time they will be able to give. If

Bond Issue Wins By Narrow Margin

The patrons of the Clearfield Public Schools do not display the interest in their schools, this most important town institution deserves. This was demonstrated at the special election held yesterday for the purpose of getting authorization of the votes of the School District to increase the debt to the amount of $45,000 for the purpose of providing for the installation of a new heating plant and building an addition to the Junior High School building to accommodate our rapidly increasing school population.

Those opposed to the project, many of whom have voted against every improvement offered or suggested during their residence here, with the assistance of a number of others who advanced personal reasons for opposing the proposition, had been busy in their opposition for some time and on account of the general apathy of school patrons came pretty near defeating the bond issue. This opposition was able to poll about the full strength of the opposition to progress along educational lines. However the fair name of the town, which has never yet voted down any proposition for the upbuilding of the schools, was saved by the narrow majority of 14 votes.

St. Francis Alumni Has Annual Banquet At The Dimeling Last Evening

Last night in the dining room of the Dimeling Hotel was held the annual Alumni Banquet of St. Francis High School. It was voted to be the most successful banquet yet held by the Alumni Association. Over a hundred members were present. With Miss Mary C. Mallow as toastmistress, a splendid program of after dinner speeches was delivered. Unlike most banquet programs, there was not one dull, dry, uninteresting number. Everything was done with a snap and finish which won the approval of all the hearers. The program was as follows:

300 WILL ATTEND THE C. H. S. ALUMNI BANQUET TONIGHT

Miss Marion Roseberry, Secretary of the Clearfield High School Alumni Association has received announcements from over three hundred graduates of C. H. S. for the alumni banquet to be held tonight at the High School. The C. H. S. Alumni Association has grown to considerable proportions and in the future will be one of the mainstays and supports of the city's schools.

The entertainment this evening will be a movie written and produced by A. D. Bigler, assisted by Miss Augusta Connolly and Kenneth Thayer. This feature of the evening will be on promptly at eight o'clock in the auditorium. Immediately following will be the alumni banquet in the ball room. The program for the evening is a perfect evening.

Mrs. Benson and daughter, Miss Esther Benson of Houtdale stopped in Clearfield yesterday.

Horseshoe Club Organized. Two Leagues Will Be Maintained Through The Summer

The Clearfield Horseshoe Club which was organized some two months ago has appointed a Council which has in turn drawn up the necessary working regulations so that the game may go right ahead now.

Officers appointed at the first meeting: Chairman, Boyd Smith; Vice Chairman, Fred Flint; Sec., M. Leighton; Treas., Frank Witherow.

Other members of Council—J. D. Connolly, Frank L. Reed, Lloyd Wright, S. W. Warner, Frank Ball.

Plan of organization, in order to provide for the large number of men who pitch for recreation as well as those who have become experts, two leagues are being formed. Singles only—open to any individual.

Doubles league, composed of the best teams of several clubs, membership in each club to be open to any in their district.

These clubs shall be recruited from the four wards under ward managers who can appoint any assistants they wish.

Membership cards will be supplied as soon as printed but work can be begun immediately and application can be sent in to these managers at once. In all probability these ward clubs will be subdivided according to other natural divisions—industries, streets, churches, organizations, etc.

Dues for the year will be 50c. Informal playing can be with any shoe but tournament games will be played with the regulation shoe. Official rules may be obtained from the

A CHALLENGE
The Volley-Hall team of Fire Company No. 2 are getting into trim and issue a challenge to all comers, agreeing to trim any and every team that will meet them. They had a short business session yesterday at Hose House and are planning some ways to popularize this good sport and if possible develop enough interest to form a league that will extend beyond the four Fire Companies who participated last season.

Secretary or come with each pair of shoes bought.

Word has somehow gotten abroad that Clearfield is a veritable hot bed of horseshoe pitching. The local organization has been making such a racket with the national officials trying to establish the state organization and if possible make Clearfield the centre of it, that horseshoe fans in general are looking for some big things to happen here. The local secretary has been appointed to place on the national organization and the official magazine, the "Horseshoe World" has quoted the town as being very much in the game. The card being more or less before the home, it is certainly up to the local people, whether pitchers or just lookers, to see that we deserve our place in the sun.

The best way to start it is to get the ward teams lined up and listed as soon as possible. In a week there should be at least fifty teams in the field. There were forty last year at this time. By the middle of the season we should be meeting men from all over the state and some from other ways.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

While many of the sportsmen of this section have not yet made a study of it, a number who have done so are convinced that the new Pennsylvania game code, signed recently by Governor Pinchot, is one of the biggest progressive steps made by the game commission of this state in recent years. From a legal point of view, the repeal of fifty-seven different game acts and amendments dating back as far as 1760, is of incalculable worth. And the practical advantages to come from the new code are expected to be beneficial to every sportsman.

One code now contains all the law on game hunting and trapping. Of the fifty changes from the previous laws, the provisions allowing Commission to practically regulate the hunting season to suit the needs of the section and of the game, the change in the deer law, and the section prohibiting the division of the penalties secured from conviction of the violators between non-salaried prosecutors and the salaried prosecutors and the State, are among the most important changes involved.

Under the new code the Commission has been granted power to close counties for a term of years for specified animals or birds or may regulate the open season for a term of years. Power is also given to extend the season for squirrel, rabbit and woodcock, where unusual conditions warrant such action on receiving a petition signed by 200 residents of the section affected, fifty per cent, of whom were regularly licensed for the preceding hunting season.

The deer law now requires a buck to have two or more points or a spike at least six inches long to be legally killed. The object of the change is to compel the hunter to actually see the head of the animal before shooting and thus prevent the loss of human life.

Another and most important feature in the deer law is a provision allowing three days for killing of deer in communities where 200 licensed hunters sign a petition asking for such allowance. The price of license fees also has been raised.

Another change prohibits the use of steel jacketed bullets in the hunting field, which is expected to be another safety factor. The division of fines no longer exists as was allowed under most of the old game laws. Practically all of the old laws allowed the prosecutor to receive half the fine where he was not a salaried officer of the State. Under the new law the entire fund must be deposited with the Game Fund.

The fourth week of Collier's Presidential poll shows Henry Ford no longer running a close race with President Harding but a strong leader, with a vote of 38,467, against 27,170 for the President. Ford leads Hughes in New York, Johnson in California, Harding even in Ohio, and La Follette in Wisconsin. Smith has 6,728 against McAdoo's 10,528, but Ralston, Indiana's favorite son, has only 563, mainly in his own state. This poll is causing politicians and friends of politicians to wrinkle their brows with unaccustomed thought and yet few of them are likely to think that a poll is a National Convention.

Schools and education must advance. Every American boy and girl is entitled to the very best education it is possible for the school district which they live to give them. The growing army of school children make absolutely necessary increased school building capacity, hence the burden placed upon school boards to provide for same. The average school director is as much interested in his own pocketbook as the average taxpayer who does not happen to be on the school board. No school director would willingly increase his own taxes unnecessarily, but that did not interfere with the campaign lies and misrepresentation carried on by some narrow-minded opponents of the school loan passed upon yesterday.

All the opposition to the project was not of this character, many people being sincere in their belief that taxes are high enough and the present facilities were sufficient for the needs of the town for the present, but the School Board who are in touch with and have the responsibility of providing adequate school room and facilities, thought otherwise and as a majority of those voting agreed with that point of view the needed changes and enlargements will be made. This is as it should be under all the circumstances as even the klickers will agree when the repairs to Junco High are completed.

Must Give, to Receive. How can we expect that others should build for him, sow for him and at his call have him who for himself will take no heed at all? Words worth. Subscribe for the Progress

There ought to be a great time at Bedford Springs when the bakers of the state meet there in convention. They know how to raise the dough.

Those who see nothing but foolishness in such things as "one gnaw," a festivity and ceremonial having much in common with a lot of other functions in present day life, would well to reflect that such actions are better than gathering around the bone of contention.

What has Community Service done for you? Tell us what you have done for Community Service and we will tell you what you have gotten out of it. This organization cannot do anything for anybody who does not enter into the work of it. Many people are getting something out of it. Reedsville is an example. Reedsville is Community Service. That is why.

Gasoline as a cleaning element is responsible for the death of a great many people every year. It is hard for the average person to understand that gasoline is not a liquid but a gas in liquid form and that the fumes and vapors coming from it permeate the atmosphere for several feet around it. Many people think that heat must come in contact with the liquid to explode it. People who find this is not the case usually do not live to tell the story to others.

It is a good omen when prosperous times are accompanied by such activity in church benevolences and church building as is the case in this neighborhood. There is always a danger that prosperity will turn the heads of a people from rendering unto God the things that are God's. The churches of this community were never in more prosperous shape. There is plenty of room for improvement yet. What have you done to show to the Creator your appreciation of life in a period of plenty, a place of contentment?

DISCIPLINE AND DEMOCRACY

This is the age of democracy, and it is the ideal of advanced nations to make self government universal and protect the humblest individual's chance for progress and self expression. Many people feel that only through "industrial democracy" shall the mass of the people obtain a fair chance in life. Yet some folks claim that democracy is being carried so far that it destroys the discipline that is essential to achievement. They point to Russia, where the moderate socialistic government under Kerensky began to go to pieces, when the famous General Order No. 1 was issued, which relieved the soldier from the obligation of saluting his superior officer. That was only the start, it is claimed, of a movement that destroyed authority and led to anarchy.

In this country many employers of labor say that the workmen feel too independent, and believe they are so well protected by their union organizations that they need not manifest diligence and devotion. This it is claimed destroys the old time self and pride of craftsmanship.

There are two dangers to be avoided in organizing the work of the community. Those who direct the forces of industry may carry their discipline so far as to crush down the individual and deny hard working people a fair chance in life. And on the other hand, the revolt against this discipline may go so far that the working forces may waste and nullify the working power of the community.

The employer of labor must have very close to his heart the welfare of those who work for him. Those whom he directs must recognize that discipline is a factor in any achievement. If an army did not obey its commander, it would soon go to pieces. If a gang of workmen do not obey directors and throw some spirit and enthusiasm into their work, they are already a defeated army in the battle of daily achievement.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

COMMERCIAL BANKING SERVICE

The most important function of the Commercial Bank is to lend money as its customers require it to develop or enlarge their business, or to maintain their credit by discounting bills.

Knowledge of the needs of business men comes from long service to the business community.

Ability to lend needed funds requires large invested capital and efficient management of the bank's funds.

The County National has capital and surplus of over $1,300,000. Its officers and directors are business men of long and wide experience.

For more than a quarter of a century it has not refused to make a loan on account of lack of available funds.

Its officers invite conferences with business men desiring a connection with an ably managed commercial bank.

THE EQUILIBRIST!

AMERICAN EGGS INVADING WORLD MARKETS

American eggs now shipped to every continent. Exports for fiscal year 1923 will exceed year preceding war by about 21,000,000 dozen.

The cackle of the American hen reverberates throughout the entire world and with constantly increasing intensity. The total number of eggs sent out of the United States in the fiscal year which ends with June, 1923, will approximate a half billion with a value of approximately $12,000,000, and will show a larger total than in any preceding year with the possible exception of one of the war years, when demands from Europe were exceptionally heavy and especially for the class of foods convenient for use in camps and on the battlefields. The present high record of exports, however, is in response to normal calls from all parts of the world.

Figures compiled for the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York indicate that the growth in the exportation of this factor of our food supply has been exceptionally rapid in recent years. In the year preceding the war, the total exports of eggs were 174 million dozen with a value of $3,308,000, while that of the fiscal year 1923 will be approximately 39,000,000 dozen, and if we include those sent to our own colonies but not included as "exports" the number will exceed 40 million dozen, or 480 million eggs passing out of continental United States in the natural form. Add to this $100,000 worth going under the classification "eggs and yolks frozen, dried or canned" and it is quite apparent that the total distribution from our ports in the year which ends with June, 1923, will be fully a half billion in number with a value of fully $12,000,000. The value of the eggs sent out of the United States in the last decade, adds the Trade Record, is nearly $100,000,000 as against about $20,000,000 in the decade preceding the war.

Where do they go? To every continent and all of the islands and colonies of the world. While the figures of distribution by countries are not yet available for the current fiscal year, those for 1919, the former high record year, show eggs sent in the natural form, to 26 countries, while those in the "dried, frozen or canned" state went in 1920 to no less than 45 countries, all of the grand divisions of the world. England's which has for many years been a large importer of this class of foodstuff, is the largest of the European purchasers, and the number sent to that country in the 9 months ending with March, 1923, is 4,697,000 dozen, valued at $1,528,000, or an average export price to Great Britain of 32.5c per dozen, while the average export price of those going to the entire world in the same period was 27.6c per dozen. Canada, Cuba and Mexico are even larger importers of eggs from the United States than is Great Britain, the total number sent from the United States to Mexico in the 9 months ending with March, 1923, having been 5,812,000 dozen, to Canada 8,372,000, and to Cuba 8,447,000, as against 4,697,000 dozen sent to the United Kingdom in the same period.

It is in the class being exported in the "dried, frozen and canned" state that the widest distribution and the most rapid growth occurs. They went in 1920 to 16 European countries, all the colonies and islands of the Caribbean area, 9 South American countries, a dozen countries, colonies and islands in Asia and Oceania, and a limited number in Africa.

This new development in the export of what was a few years ago considered a "negligible factor" in our export trade illustrates, says the Trade Record, the constant increase in the variety and value of food materials which the United States is placing upon the world's markets and the aid which these minor industries of the country are rendering in supplying the "wherewithal" required for the purchase of the tropical foods and manufacturing materials which we must always bring from other parts of the world.

The art of distributing eggs in condition in which they can make long voyages in all climates developed rapidly during the war and especially among the Orientals. The value of eggs officially described as "dried, frozen, etc." entering the United States advanced from $37,000 in the year preceding the war to over $8,000,000 in 1921 and was almost exclusively of Oriental production, a very large proportion coming from China with limited quantities from Japan, Hongkong, Australia and New Zealand.

Milk Supply Of DuBois Made Much Better By Cow Testing For T. B.

DuBois, June 12.—Dairymen of this section have shown unusual interest and activity recently in the highly important matter of having their herds tested for tuberculosis, and as a result the milk supply of the city is being raised to a higher standard of purity than it has perhaps ever been before.

Within the past few weeks, three herds that have been furnishing milk directly to DuBois consumers have been tested with the result that 24 tubercular reactors were removed from their place among the producers of milk for the city.

The herd on the Minns farm was the hardest hit, all seven cows showing reaction and being ordered destroyed. The Hyatt & Parry herd, regarded as one of the best in this section, showed fifty per cent tubercular infested and seventeen of the thirty-four cows in that herd were destroyed when they reacted to the tests. Samuel Larson, of No. 1 Shaft had 15 in his herd and all of them proved to be free of tuberculosis.

More To Be Tested.

The tuberculin tests have not been under way long in this section, the DuBois agricultural area being slow in taking up this phase of the dairy improvement work. However, with the stamping of the Lowe and Wachob herds as tubercular free, and plans for testing numerous other herds, it is assured that within a short time practically all of the milk used in this city will be free of tuberculosis.

The Hoyt and Bucksby herds in the Sabula section and the Henderson Van Tassel herds are scheduled to be tested in the near future and most of the other larger milk producers of this section are falling into line.

MAY BIGGEST MONTH IN NASH HISTORY

May was the biggest month in the history of The Nash Motor Company. Shipments for the month exceeded those of April, the previous record month, by 562 cars and eclipsed the record of May 1922, by 1,073 cars. In other words Nash Motors shipped in May of this year 6,200 passenger cars as against 5,125 cars in the same month last year.

"While we actually shipped 6,203 cars in May," said E. R. McCarty, general sales manager of The Nash Motor Company, "We had on our books orders for more than 8,000 cars for May delivery. There are entirely no let-up in sight for June. Nash dealers throughout the country have practically no cars in stock and most of them are arranging delivery."

"Because of the backward weather of the spring months June is likely to be even a heavier selling month than usual, many buyers, because of the recent uncomfortable weather, having postponed their purchase of a new car. Practically ever since the new Nash line of cars was shown to the public at the various automobile shows, the Nash factory has been in an oversold condition with the result that since March 1 we have never been able to fill all of the orders received by the factory. Production, of course, has been increased, but on a very careful basis, safeguarding the quality of Nash cars."

GREAT MEETING AT GOSHEN CHURCH AS BUILDING BEGINS

Sunday last was a memorable day for the church people of Goshen. At an enthusiastic meeting it had been unanimously decided to replace the old house of worship with a new and modern edifice. All week, beginning Sunday, June 3rd, revival meetings had been held, attended by large crowds. The well known and brilliant evangelist, Rev. O. B. Poulson of Alona, who began his ministry on this charge about fifteen years ago and who had endeared himself to the people of this section, addressed the appreciative audiences which gathered at the old church building to hear him from Sunday morning 'til Thursday night. On Friday night the evangelist, Miss Minnie Bassett, and her accomplished organist, Miss Thomas both of Fishertown, were present. A large audience enjoyed their excellent singing and the ringing message by Rev. Miss Bassett.

But a rare pleasure was accorded the great throng that crowded the old place of worship on Saturday night. It had been announced that the Rev. Gleason P. Sarvis, the old veteran of the Central Pennsylvania Conference, who 89 years since had ministered to the people of Goshen in the things of God, and who has won more souls for Christ than any other minister in the Conference, would preach.

After the introduction—for another generation had come and grown up and a second one succeeded, since the aged minister had preached here—the venerable saint arose and stood in the pulpit where he preached so long ago. The attention of the house was riveted upon him with mingled feelings of love and reverence. His subject was "Prayer—that forgotten art—and as the white-haired minister dwelt with feeling eloquence on the great need and the power of prayer, the audience was profoundly moved. It was a solemn and impressive message from one whose eyes shall soon behold Him, whose face is infinitely brighter than a thousand suns.

10:00 A. M. Sunday was the hour set for Children's Day exercises. People came in great numbers, some for considerable distances, and the seating capacity of the old church was overtaxed by the 350 or more present. The committee in charge of training the children had worked long and hard, and the exercises following called forth many words of appreciation.

But the climax of the week came Saturday afternoon, the time set for subscribing the funds for the new edifice. A great fleet of autos brought throngs from near and far. Chairs and benches were brought from the nearby Grange and Alliance Halls until all available space was taken up and still many were standing. After a short address by Rev. Sarvis the people were given the long looked for opportunity of subscribing to the building fund. This part of the service was in charge of Evangelist Poulson, and the efficient and tactful manner in which he handled it soon brought it to a triumphant conclusion.

The giving was enthusiastic, the initial impulse being given by the Shaw Bros. of Clearfield, who quickly subscribed the first unit asked for.

Shortly $2,986.00 had been subscribed, together with two memorial windows, team work estimated to be sufficient for the entire project, and labor enough to enable an immediate beginning.

Monday morning Alex Hainsey, boss carpenter, with a crew of workers made up of pastor, official members and laymen and women, began the work of removing carpet, seats, etc., and by 6:00 p. m. the old meeting house was only a shell. It is expected that by Saturday night all will be in readiness for beginning the excavations for the new structure.

Thanks are especially due to Rev. O. B. Poulson for his loving and efficient labors in behalf of the project. It was a great week for Goshen, a time that will live in memory, but greater things are ahead.

Mrs. Frank Connelly and son Billy of Cherry street, leave this evening for Eliza, Ohio, where they will visit with her daughter, Mrs. James Elmer for some time, after which they expect to go on to Detroit, where they will visit Mrs. W. A. Flanagan, also a daughter.

A Fred Van Caten and wife, former residents of Clearfield, are guests of Clearfield friends at present. Mr. Van Caten was formerly a member of C. H. S. faculty and is remembered for his wonderful ability in music. Mrs. Van Caten was also a pianist, of both and Clearfield was indeed sorry to lose these good people when they decided to return to Philadelphia to engage in business.

Miss Miriam Underwood, who has completed a successful term of school at Pittsburgh has returned to her home on 6th street.

Miss Sarah Brodbeck and Rae Eckley, who were attending a house party at State College, have returned home.

and his address proved that there was nothing lost in having him come a long distance. His plain statement of the aims, purposes and program of the O. U. A. M. was a revelation to his hearers and prolonged applause broke forth at the conclusion of his remarks.

At the opening of the sessions this morning an impressive memorial service was held to commemorate the lives of those of the Council who have departed this life during the last year. Following this was heard two reports of committees which brought out a lively discussion of ways and means of bettering the order. Just before noon the election for state officers was held with the following result:

State Councilor, J. B. DeHaven, of Chester, Pa.; State Vice Councilor Harry Ellis, Kyfertown, Pa.; Jr. Ex-State Councilor, Isaac T. Heisey, Dillsburg, Pa. Treasurer, Chas. H. Kurtz, Philadelphia; Secretary, George B. Sill, Chester, Pa.; Chaplain, A. P. Barnum, Allentown; Inducor, Ralph Ball, Beaver Falls, Pa.; Examiners, H. L. Shull, Lansdale, Pa.; Inside Protector, J. W. plan which has worked so successfully in Clearfield, although necessarily the directorate is smaller and the sphere of work will be somewhat different. These men believe that Woodland with its never failing supply of work for everybody, has a real future for the good citizen and the purpose is to invite people to make their home there, and to this end, it is the purpose of the club members to put a few things in better shape in order that good citizens may be attracted to the town. The report of the committee, which was unanimously adopted, called upon the following men to serve during the ensuing six months: S. T. McClure, President; J. V. Snapp, Vice Pres.; V. G. Henderson, Secretary; G. B. Leidel, Ass'y Sec'y; A. E. Woolridge, Jr., Treasurer.

At the conclusion of the business session, G. A. Stewart, President of the Clearfield Rotary Club, was called upon to give an address covering methods of organization, aims of the club and suggestions for bringing about the results desired in Woodland. Following Mr. Stewart's talk to his old neighbors and friends, a general round table discussion was had at which many good thoughts were brought out. The next meeting of the club will be held the fourth Monday of this month.

Thousands Homeless In Oklahoma As Result Of Arkansas River Floods

Tulsa, Okla., June 13.—Thousands were made homeless here today by Arkansas River Flood waters which raged unchecked throughout this section of Oklahoma.

The entire river bottom between here and Sand Springs, a distance of seven miles was inundated. Three thousand refugees, whose homes were flooded, were being cared for by relief agents.

The municipal works here were forced to shut down owing to flood waters and there was danger of disease. In Jenks, south of here, water covered three-fourths of the town. Residents were said to be fleeing in boats.

Platitudes are of the thirty piece band for consolation. The consolation is probably as good as nothing. A few men are in the world who are not content with a little of nothing. A little of nothing is a little of nothing.

Few Real Students of Nature. Books are of pathetically little use to tell the story of nature. Few people recognize more than a dozen roadside flowers, the commonest trees and shrubs, a few kinds of birds and insects. To be able to distinguish the call notes of birds seems to most persons a miraculous gift. The few who know enough of nature to be guides for a few hours' walk have knowledge that many others deeply long for, but that they would pay handsomely to get.—Youth's companion.

There's No Other Name. Is it not strange that the emblem flower of England should have a Latin name? For there is no other name for a rose than the Latin word rosa, while the Romans brought us. What did the countryfolk of Kent or Sussex call it? "Eglantine" another old name for it is French derived from a Latin word which takes you back eventually to a Greek word. Was there never another name to set beside such English names as cowslip, buttercup, daisy?

Rivers in the Ocean. The oceans have their rivers just like the land. The best known of these is the Gulf stream, but the greatest is the "Euro-Sivo," or Black stream which runs from Europe due east toward the American coast and is essentially modified by the climate that in summer humming birds are found in southern Alaska.

Appropriations And Revenues Hold Stage In Senate This Week

Harrisburg, June 13.—The Legislature went into the last 24 hours of the 1923 session today with the revenue and appropriations problem still unsolved. The Senate, hemmed in on one side by the insistence of Governor Pinchot that the new revenue provided be adequate and on the other by the same aversion in the House to any important changes in the tax program, has decided upon attempting to put its finishing touches on the revenue question.

The predominant sentiment in the Senate assumed was exemption of the corporation profits tax, authorizing coal companies, insurance corporations and corporate lessors exemptions, recommended by the finance committee. There was also a movement under way further to rearrange the tax program by substituting something for the Whittier gasoline bill, passed by the House.

Harding Thinks U.S. May Amend Volstead Law To End Foreign Objections

At present Mr. Harding feels the Government has no choice in the matter but to uphold the Supreme Court's decision but feels, however, that Congress had no intention of making the law so drastic as the Supreme Court holds it to be.

CONSIDERATE MOTHER-IN-LAW GETS PENN STATE DEGREE

In the belief that mothers-in-law should find something more useful to do than become a worry to their children, Mrs. Sarah Shoemaker Farley, 57, of Swarthmore, Pa., several years ago began studying agriculture at the Pennsylvania State College, where a son was then a student, and this week received the degree of Bachelor of Science in the college course in botany. Left a widow some years ago, and with limited means, Mrs. Farley became attached to college life while visiting her son at State College in 1914, and decided to take up studies leading to independence and a profession.

"Mother" Farley, as she is known to every Penn State student, is the mother of three sons, two of them graduates of Penn State, the other a graduate of an Illinois medical college, and a daughter who attended Swarthmore College. All are married and their twelve children know the oldest woman ever to be graduated from Penn State as "grandmother." She expects to continue her studies in post-graduate and scientific investigation work at another institution in the fall.

Bedroom Wall Protection.

While visiting a friend I discovered her way of protecting her beds from scratching the walls when moving them. Tacked to the headboard at the head of each bed was a strip of picture material, a trifle longer than the width of the bed and painted to correspond to the woodwork. The posters rolled against the molding, and there was no danger of injury to the wallpaper. — Washington Post.

Origin Name of Georgia Town.

A town in Georgia rejoices in the distinctly original, but somewhat anomalous designation of Nameless. The name was given from the fact that in a list of several hundred names submitted to the post office authorities not one was found satisfactory.

A VICTORY FOR AMERICAN MOTORISTS

The Crude Rubber Monopoly weakened when it came into contact with aroused public sentiment. The press of the country today reflects the determination of the American motorist that tire prices shall stay at a reasonable level—and that America must produce its own rubber.

Firestone

CUTS TIRE PRICES

EFFECTIVE JUNE 11

We announce a 10% reduction in tires and tubes effective June 11th. The lowered cost of crude rubber and the special Firestone manufacturing and distribution advantages make this possible.

Firestone factories are organized on a basis of large volume and effective production. Costs are down but quality is at its peak. Stockholder workmen are daily building many thousands of Gum-Dipped Cords—the best tire Firestone ever produced and, we believe, the leader on the market today.

Firestone Cords took the first four places and eight of the ten money positions in the Indianapolis Sweepstakes, May 30th, without a single tire failure.

Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords have set new standards in mileage, traction, comfort and safety. Car owners have expressed their approval of the extra value in Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords by increasing their purchases 104% in the past six months.

We have replaced many expensive branches with warehouses. We now have 108 distributing points which are delivering Firestone tires to the consumer at the lowest cost in our history.

Follow the tide of economical tire buying—equip with Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords—and learn what Most Miles per Dollar means to you today.

Even "libborn, unruly or shampooed hair" stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-cream" is a natural combing cream which gives that natural gloss and will give enough effect to your hair—that final touch to good dress boys in business and on social occasions.

Millions use greasolene, stabilizes "Hair-Cream" because it does not show in the hair. It is absorbed by the scalp, therefore the hair remains so soft and pliable and so natural that no one can possibly tell you used it. Not sticky or smelly.
